Just a few years ago I never would have dreamed I could be a happy mother of three healthy children. I had always wanted a big family and I love children. After trying for one year I found out I was pregnant. I was relieved. Then two weeks later I miscarried the baby. I named her and grieved for her as I already loved her. Two months later I was pregnant with my son. At his birth I put my infertility problems out of my mind. I had never been able to handle birth control and my plan was to have another baby right away and be done before I reached the age of thirty. That's not what happened.

Three years passed and no baby. I began going to fertility specialists, underwent a lot of testing and there seemed to be no cause. However judging from my emotional fluctuations I knew I had hormonal problems and so far no drug had worked. My little son kept me busy but I still ached inside when I watched him playing alone.

After I gave up on the doctors' methods, I began a radical healthy eating diet and got pregnant. Everybody celebrated with me until 3 months later when I miscarried our baby. A short time later I was pregnant again only to end up nearly losing my life through internal bleeding from a tubular pregnancy. Depression began to be a factor. I got pregnant again and had another miscarriage but the depression was so great that at this point I didn't even grieve, I had given up.

The bright spot in this was after my second miscarriage I began taking the Herbalife products that are specifically designed for women with hormonal problems. I started retailing the products to fill the empty void in my life by helping others like me who needed to get healthy. I had as a goal to save $10,000 dollars so my husband Paul and I, could adopt a baby. I began to seriously take all the products and in a few months started to notice a difference in my menstrual cycle as well as my overall health. I also dropped a dress size and was feeling terrific. In December of 1994 I became so concerned about the difference in my cycle that I made a doctors appointment to see if I might be going through premature menopause. (of course I was thinking the worst) The doctor looked t me after the examination and said the most beautiful words I have ever heard "You are very pregnant!" At my next exam I brought my Herbalife products with me to show my doctor and he approved them all. Then two weeks later I started to bleed. My doctor sent me to bed and my mother in law came to help with the family. I prayed a lot and continued taking the products. One week later the bleeding stopped completely. I had a wonderful pregnancy and 9 months later gave birth to a beautiful, healthy baby girl. My daughter had missed being born on my sons' seventh birthday by a short half hour.

I was totally shocked two years later when another home pregnancy test showed positive again. I also knew there was no chance of miscarriage as I felt way too healthy. Appropriately our third baby was born on Thanksgiving 1997. Another healthy baby girl. All of my children are a blessing. I thank God I found these incredible Herbalife products because now I am busy with a family of five and a successful home business.
